The St. Louis Globe-Democrat declares that "Lady Randolph Churchill is the Mrs. John A. Logan of Great Britain. She could not aspire to greater honor."

The Wisconsin Central railroad company has been granted a charter at the Illinois state capital. The object is to build a line northwest from Chicago, to the Wisconsin state line, with various branches. The capital stock is $20,000,000.

Two Mormons, with three wives each, were arrested at Salt Lake City for illegal cohabitation, and held for trial. The council of Salt Lake, which is unanimously Mormon, adopted the report of a committee sanctioning the hanging of the national flag at half-mast on July 4th.

The common council of Chicago has passed an ordinance providing for a yearly license of $500 for all breweries producing more than 500 barrels of beer per annum. Another ordinance adopted imposed an annual license of $250 on wholesale liquor dealers who do not pay distillers' licenses.

New York insurance companies have discovered that they are being defrauded through healthy persons being insured and collections made upon the death of sickly citizens in their names; and that, in other cases, bodies are dressed in the clothing of insured persons, identified and claims then presented.

Judge Chenowith, on behalf of a number of ex-confederate soldiers, Wednesday presented General Rosecrans with a pistol captured by the Texans in a raid on his baggage train in the summer of 1864. On the stock of the pistol is inscribed the names of the battles in which General Rosecrans was victorious. The general was much pleased with the present and with the manner of its restoration.

The Iowa Greenback state convention met at Des Moines, Tuesday, and nominated E. H. Gillotte, of that city, for lieutenant governor, and F. W. Moore, of Davis county, for superintendent of public instruction, leaving the other places on the ticket to be filled by the democrats. The resolutions denounce both the old parties, protest against the continued encroachments of monopolies and denounce the governor for the "bayonet" removal of State Auditor Brown.

The Globe hotel, in Louisiana, Mo., caught fire Tuesday morning from the explosion of a lamp, and burned to the ground. The building was three stories high. There were thirty-five guests asleep at the time, all of whom were awakened. Many of them leaped from the second and third story windows to the ground, clad in their night-clothes. Dr. Lonergan, who jumped from the third floor, struck on the brick sidewalk and was killed almost instantly. Other guests, besides losing their trunks, jewelry and all their clothing, received severe injuries, breaking their legs and arms in jumping. The loss was $10,000; insurance, $6,000.

It has been customary to permit the graduates of the military academy at West Point to select within certain limits the regiments to which they should be assigned. The men who graduate at the head of the class always go to the engineer corps, those standing next usually to the artillery, and those coming next to the cavalry. The rest go to the infantry. But those assigned to the artillery, cavalry and infantry, have for years been allowed to choose their regiments. This year President Cleveland did not consult the graduates at all. More than that he assigned six of them to the regiments made up of colored men, to which graduates very seldom ask to be assigned. This action will leave six vacancies in the second lieutenancies of the white regiments, which will be filled by the promotion of enlisted men.

Levi J. North, one of the oldest and most widely known circus riders in the world, died in Brooklyn, Monday, from a cold contracted a few day ago, while attending the funeral of Frank Pastor, a brother of Tony Pastor. North was born in 1814, and was a public rider at 13 years of age. He traveled all over this country and Europe, and appeared before Louis Philippe, Queen Victoria and other sovereigns. He acquired a competency in his profession which he invested in a theatre in Chicago and a farm on the Desplaines river, west of the city. The theatre was known as "North's Amphitheatre," and was located on Monroe street, near what is now Fifth avenue. It was in two divisions—a ring for a circus and a stage for dramatic performances. The theatre was opened in October, 1856, and was very successful for a time. Mr. North was crippled pecuniarily by the great Chicago fire, and went back to the ring.

Dr. J. Leslie Porter, president of Queen's college, Belfast, Ireland, recently delivered an address at the Victoria Institute, London, his subject being "Egypt, Historical and Geographical," a country with which he had been thirty years intimately acquainted. Having referred to the antiquity of Egyptian records, which in so many instances bore of the history of other ancient countries, he proceeded to describe the various changes through which that country had passed since its first colonization; and, touching on its physical geography, concluded by giving the main results of recent exploration. One or two special statements may be here recorded. Dr. Porter said:—"Were the Nile, by some convulsion of nature, or by some gigantic work of engineering skill,—neither of which is impossible,—turned out of its present channel away up at Khartoum, or at any other point above Wady Halfa, Egypt would speedily become a desert." No tributary enters the Nile below Berber, that is to say, for the last thousand miles of its course.

"The arable land of Egypt is about equal in extent to Yorkshire." The White Nile, issuing from Lakes Albert and Victoria Nyanza, is broad and deep, never rises above a few feet, and supplies the permanent source of the river of Egypt. "The other tributaries produce inundation." Of these the Atbara from the mountains of Abyssinia is the most fertilizing, as it brings down with it a quantity of soil. The deposit of this soil is slowly raising the bed of the river as well as extending on each side; for example, on the plain of Thebes the soil formed by deposits has in 3,500 years encroached upon the desert a third of a mile, "while the ruins of Hierapolis in the Delta, which once stood above reach of the inundation, are now buried in a mud deposit to a depth of nearly seven feet." In conclusion, he referred to Egypt and its present condition, saying: "The commerce from the upper tributaries of the Nile, and from the wide region of Soudan, forms an essential factor in the prosperity and progress of Egypt."

THEY FINISHED THE JOB.

A Mississippi Mob That Desired To Be Thorough in Its Work.

NEW ORLEANS, July 9.—A special to The Times-Democrat from Grenada, Miss., says: Tuesday after the hanging of Perry McChristian and Felix Williams, the mob started after two other parties implicated in the murder of the peddlers. When the rope was placed around his neck Tuesday McChristian confessed that he, Williams, Bartley James and John Campbell had taken part in the murder of the two peddlers. The mob threatened to clean out the entire gang, and went to James' house, about twelve miles east of here. They found their man at home, took him out and strung him up. They then proceeded to Campbell's house, who fired upon the party, and, it is supposed, slightly wounded one of them. Campbell fled, pursued by the mob. It is rumored that they came upon him in the morning at daylight. He refused to surrender, declaring he would never be taken alive, whereupon he was shot to death. All four of the men lynched were negroes. The bodies of the men hung Tuesday evening were cut down Wednesday and buried.

Pennsylvania Republicans.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 9.—The Republican state convention to choose a candidate for state treasurer met in the hall of the house of representatives Wednesday. In his address Temporary Chairman Rogers said there were no Stalwarts or Independents now; the voice of the convention was the voice of the Republican party of the state. James S. Biery, of Lehigh, was chosen permanent chairman. He said the party in the state was now united, and that whoever was nominated would secure the full vote of the state. A ballot was then taken for state treasurer, Col. M. S. Quay, of Beaver, getting 196½ votes. The nomination was then made unanimous, after which the committee on resolutions reported.

The platform declares that the live issues of the present campaign are protection to American industry; a stoppage of the importation of foreign contract labor; the establishment of such a system of civil service as will give competent officers and fixed tenure except for adequate public cause; the maintenance of a currency worth 100 cents on the dollar; a just regard for our foreign commercial relations, and a continuation of the contest in behalf of national development against the enormous influence of foreign capital seeking possession of American markets. It also favors repeal of internal revenue taxes except upon intoxicating liquors, and a fund for disabled soldiers and sailors raised by additional import duties.

Traveling Passenger Agents.

BOSTON, July 9.—The international Association of Traveling Passengers Agents, reassembled Wednesday morning and elected officers as follows: President, C. A. Braun, New England, passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway; secretary and treasurer, William B. Tenney, of the Baltimore & Ohio. W. W. Lord, Jr. of Harrisburg, Pa., was appointed orator for next year. The association then adjourned.

The Fourth at the Insane Asylum.

Judging from the following, which we find in the Madison Democrat, the patients in the State hospital for the insane at Madison, enjoyed a royal treat on Independence Day:

It will, doubtless, be pleasing to the friends of the inmates of the insane asylum, on the north shores of Lake Mendota, and the friends of the institution as well, to learn how the patients spent the 4th. Early in the day the patients, to the number of about 400, (this number including nearly all in the asylum) were taken out into one of the beautiful groves near the buildings, where a smooth grass plat had been prepared, and for the remainder of the day gaily reveled in the mazy dance to music furnished by the institution's own band. No canvass or platform was used, the dancing being conducted on the smooth, grassy ground.

The healthy sport in the pure, open air gave the patients good appetites and they were feasted on all the luxuries the market could afford, and during the course of the day they managed to consume forty or fifty gallons of ice cream, eight bushels of strawberries, about a wagon load of sandwiches, besides other appetizing edibles. During the day one dozen baloons were sent up for the amusement of the company. In the evening there was a fine display of fire works from a platform which had been built in front of the main building for that purpose. Dancing was participated in all day. The fireworks lasted until nine o'clock, when the patients retired. From 9 to 11 o'clock the employes, who were obliged to work all day taking care of and waiting on the inmates, were given their turn at dancing, and a most enjoyable time was the experience of all. This was a real treat for all concerned, and during the whole day there was no accident or discord of any kind to mar the enjoyment of the occasion. Much credit and many thanks to Superintendent S. B. Buckmaster from the Democrat, and the many friends of the asylum and its inmates for this kindly treat to the afflicted ones."

LONDON'S DISGRACE.

EXCITEMENT OVER THE RECENT SENSATION CONTINUES.

Pall Mall Gazette Venders Arrested—Sympathy from the Clergy—The Defiant Editor Warns the Guilty and Invites Prosecution.

NEW YORK, July 9.—A London cablegram to The Sun says: The Pall Mall Gazette sensation continues, and a third installment of its exposures was put forth Wednesday. This is in some respects more repulsive than any that has preceded it. Five pages are devoted to details. Every case is so clearly described that the guilty parties could be located within twenty-four hours by a detective of the most ordinary intelligence. Every possible clew is given except the names of the principals. The accompanying editorial article Wednesday was short, but more aggressive than any that has been printed since the exposures begun. The editor not only defies but invites prosecution, but he warns intending prosecutors that many names will necessarily be revealed during the trial of any cases brought against him. Some men, he says, will be spared until the last on account of their honest wives, and the worthy sons and daughters of whom they are unworthy fathers. If such men choose to lead the attack they will, it says, be sheltered behind women whom they know they are unworthy to touch.

In the editorial rooms of the paper everybody is apparently serene. Letters have been received from Rev. Mr. Spurgeon, and from hundreds of other clergymen, statesmen, and merchants, thanking the editor for the exposures already made, exhorting him to keep on with the good work, and promising their support in any way that it can be made effective. At the clubs the principal occupation is fitting the names of the accused persons to the descriptions given of them in The Gazette. In many cases the descriptions are so accurate that nothing is left to conjecture. In other cases there is a good deal of guesswork. Names of members of the royal family and of the highest nobility are freely handled about. Many aristocrats are howling with rage, and their anger is intensified by its impotence. If they deny the truth of any individual case they are met with the awkward question: "How do you know?" In the Reform club it has been proposed to expel Mr. Thompson, the owner of The Pall Mall Gazette, for allowing the exposures to be made in his paper.

Tuesday Mr. Stead had an interview with the home secretary with reference to Cavendish Bentinck's question in the house of commons Monday night as to whether The Gazette could be prosecuted. At the end of the interview Sir Richard Cross said: "If I had known all this before I would have passed the criminal law amendment in a moment."

The Gazettes were seized in the hands of news venders Wednesday, and the sellers taken before the lord mayor, who postponed the cases until the government acted. Almost any price was offered for copies of the paper, and the streets were full of a howling and excited throng of people, who wanted to read the latest details of the horrible disclosure.

The Pall Mall Gazette has been excluded from the rooms of the Reform club (a Liberal organization) and the Athenæum club (devoted to literature, art and science).

Unpublished Works of Victor Hugo.

LONDON, July 9.—Among the works of Victor Hugo, soon to be published, and which are awaited with great interest by the French people, are the following specially spoken of as likely to attain as great a popularity as anything published by the great writer during his life: A one act comedy called La Grande—Mere; a volume of poetry entitled La Legende de L'Epee; a sort of scrap-book or commonplace book, called Un Tas de Pierres, part of which is a diary containing the occasional thoughts of the poet; a comedy bearing the title Pent—Etre Un Frere de Gavrocha, but which is said to be unfitted for stage production, and a drama called Les Jumeaux.

Plot to "Remove" a King.

BRUSSELS, July 9.—Among fifteen persons arrested here Wednesday in connection with an alleged plot to "remove" King Leopold and a number of members of the government are two Russians and two Frenchmen. The others are Belgians. The Russians and Frenchmen will be arraigned upon the charge of conspiring against the life of a foreign sovereign. The officials are very reticent, but it is understood that the detectives are shadowing a number of suspected persons who will probably be arrested Thursday.

Is Vanderbilt Investing in Egypt?

BERLIN, July 9.—Harvesting in the vicinity of Berlin has been commenced, and the crops are found to be unusually good, the yield of corn being especially abundant.

Senator McPherson Denies.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Ex-Senator McPherson, in reply to charges that he bargained to sell out the Democrats to Senator Sewell, totally denies the story. He was assigned to room 26 in the Continental hotel at Philadelphia on the day when the bargain is alleged to have been made there, but arrived at the hotel too late to meet the business men with whom he had an appointment and went away at once without going to the room. He presents affidavits of gentlemen who were with him to support this statement. He supposes the charges are part of a plot against him and that his assignment on the hotel register to room 26 led the conspirators into their error.

Base Ball.

CHICAGO, July 9.—League base ball scores Wednesday were as follows: At Chicago—Providence 3, Chicago 10; at Detroit—Philadelphia 5, Detroit 13; at St. Louis—New York 3, St. Louis 8; at Buffalo—Boston 9, Buffalo 3. No American association games reported.

A HOOSIER TRIPLE TRAGEDY.

Two Children Killed by Their Mother, Who Then Destroys Herself.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 9.—A terrible tragedy took place at Howden, Warrick county, thirteen miles northwest of this city, Tuesday evening. John Hodgins, proprietor of a general store in that village, has been living happily with his wife and two children until three weeks ago, when a cousin of Mrs. Hodgins, named Miss Ellen Snell, a pretty school teacher, of Delaware county, came to spend the summer vacation with them. Although Hodgins is well advanced in years, a criminal intimacy soon sprang up between Hodgins and Miss Snell. This latter fact becoming known to Mrs. Hodgins she Tuesday morning ordered Miss Snell to leave the house, but Hodgins refused to let her go and insisted on his wife going instead. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon Hodgins and Miss Snell went out for a walk and on returning in the evening found the house deserted. Search was made for Mrs. Hodgins and the children, which resulted in the finding of the mother back of the barn lying across the water-trough with her head down in the water. Further search found the two little children lying side by side with a gaping wound in their heads, whilst a bloody ax lying beside them told only too fully the horrible deed. The coroner's jury is now in session holding an inquest over the remains. Miss Snell is lying in a critical condition, the sight of the terrible tragedy and the knowledge that she was the dire cause of it having completely prostrated her.

Abduction of a Chicago Baby.

CHICAGO, July 9.—A woman walked up to the home of William Shaffner, at 103 Wisson street, Tuesday, and after giving two older children who were watching the baby of the family (the parents having gone down town) some money and sending them off to buy candy, picked up the babe 18 months old, boarded a street car and took the child to the city, since which time she has not been seen or heard from, despite the efforts of the police. The parents are distracted over their loss. The child has on the back of her neck two birth-marks, or strawberry marks, as they are called, and when she cries or is frightened a streak of flushed red shows from her forehead down to the tip of the nose.

THURSDAY, JULY 9.

TILLING THE GROUND.

AN ADDRESS ON THE PURPOSES OF AGRICULTURAL COLLEGES.

Result of Their Establishment Not What Was Expected—Commissioner Colman's Views—Miss Cleveland's Interest in Silk Culture.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 9.—The agricultural convention met at the department of agriculture Wednesday morning, and was called to order by Commissioner Colman. A committee on credentials was appointed, after which Commissioner Colman delivered an address.

Commissioner Colman said the general public was dissatisfied at the outcome of the agricultural colleges, for which congress had made such magnificent land endowments. The predominant idea in congress was that of interesting young men in farming operations and in the fundamental principles of plant culture. Facts were submitted to congress showing that the average of yields was gradually diminishing in quantity, and that the soil was being rapidly exhausted of plant food. To arrest this somewhat alarming tendency it was deemed advisable to encourage institutions where the results of scientific investigations into vegetable physiology would be exemplified, and their practical applications in fields and gardens clearly illustrated. The results had not been commensurate with public expectations. Complaint was made that comparatively few graduates become farmers, and the truth of this must to some extent be admitted. It was not surprising, especially in cases where the maintenance of the farm was noted as a tax upon the funds of the college, that graduates should avoid a calling thus demonstrated to be unprofitable.

After alluding in detail to some of the branches which should be fundamentally taught in all agricultural colleges, he referred at length to some of the operations and plans which might be carried out on college farms, by the college faculties, and which would be more particularly under the auspices of the department of agriculture. The peculiarities consequent upon changing seed from one soil and climate to others were strongly suggestive that good would result from a well-conducted series of experiments made over widely diversified climates and conditions. The wider the system of interchange of seeds and the greater the number of simultaneous tests, the sooner could be tabulated results out of which to deduce principles for future guidance and action. As an example of special work for suitable localities he would mention investigations relating to the cotton plant. The department could collect the seeds of many varieties and assign them to all colleges in the cotton states, with instructions which would secure similarity of treatment throughout their growth. Semi-weekly inspections might be made, when every detail of progress connected with rainfall, temperature, time of first flowering, continuation of the blooming period, and quantity and quality of lint, should be carefully noted. These processes should be continued for series of years, and when completed could not fail to be of great benefit to all engaged in the culture of the crop. Determinations would be reached as to the adaptability of certain kinds to certain climates, better varieties than those now cultivated would be indicated for many localities, and profits would be enhanced.

The principles governing the rotation of crops, the hybridization of plants, and the study of the diseases of plants were touched upon as promising avenues to the usefulness of agricultural colleges if entered upon conjointly and intelligently and followed to their ends. Upon the general subject, and in conclusion, the commissioner said that there was nothing which would so attract and rivet the attention of the agricultural public to the colleges as experimental work. Farmers would hope and expect to be directly benefited. On the college farm should be tested every variety of fruit, cereals, grapes, timber trees, and even domestic animals; and those found in all respects adapted to the locality should be disseminated by the college. Thus one college farm would be trying experiments for hundreds of thousands of farmers, who could enjoy the benefits and not suffer the losses in money, labor, and time of making the tests for themselves. He proffered the services of the department in obtaining from abroad seeds and plants of any product we are now importing whenever the faculty of any college wished to test the cultivation of the plant in this country. He could see the necessity for a great national experimental farm, also, which he would have established near the capital; and if he might go further he would establish on it a permanent national or world's exposition, where the products of this and other nations might be exhibited. He believed that at no distant day this would be realized.

The following letter from Miss Cleveland was read:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON CITY: I venture to ask if the subject of silk culture in the United States is one which will receive attention from the agricultural convention. I find myself feeling a deep interest in this industry, not only because it seems right and fitting that we should produce our own silk in successful competition with the Old World, but because this industry when so established as it may be by the encouragement of central government, will afford one more avenue of self-support to women. I am sure you desire with me to see such avenues increased in worthy and legitimate ways. I am hoping to have the pleasure of visiting your bureau before long. Very truly yours,

ROSE ELIZABETH CLEVELAND.

July 8, 1885.

This letter was received with applause, and as a response thereto the convention adopted a resolution stating that they were in sympathy with the sentiments expressed by Miss Cleveland, and inviting her to take part in the deliberations of the convention.

A permanent organization was effected by electing Commissioner Colman president and Professor Fairchild secretary. The remainder of the session was occupied in reading papers on various agricultural subjects.

CAPITAL CITY NOTES.

Trouble on the Cattle Trail.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 9.—Additional protests are constantly being received at the interior department from Texas cattle men, against the Kansas authorities who prevent Texas cattle from being driven through what is known as the Cherokee strip in Indian territory to Kansas. Secretary Lamar has repeatedly telegraphed that the herders have a perfect right to follow established trails, provided the cattle are free from infectious diseases. It is on this point that the differences of opinion arise. The law of May 29, 1884, prohibits the driving from one state into another of cattle having Texas fever. The Kansas authorities assume that Texas cattle have the fever, and therefore have declared a quarantine of ninety days against all cattle from that state. As the cattle are driven north it is said the disease disappears, and it is to reach the northern country that the Texas herders desire to pass through the Cherokee strip. But this strip is under the jurisdiction of the United States court at Wichita, Kan., and the officials are upholding the quarantine declared by the state against Texas cattle. In this predicament the Texas herders appealed to Secretary Lamar ann Commissioner Atkins, and both declare that the cattle should go through the strip in question on the established trails. As the officials who were preventing the cattlemen from following this course were not under the jurisdiction of the secretary of the interior or commissioner of Indian affairs, no attention was paid to the directions of either. Secretary Lamar has now asked the attorney general to instruct the United States officials to allow the cattle to go through the strip. As orders will now come from the proper source, it is probable that the difficulty will be finally settled.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 9.—The president has appointed the following named postmasters: Adolph Piering at Manitowoc, Wis.; Joseph Vinnahine at East St. Louis, Ills.; D. A. Sullivan at Spring Valley, Minn.; J. C. Wise at Mankato, Minn.

M. H. McCord, register at Wausau, Wis., has resigned, Charles Payne, of Millville, N. J., has been disbarred from practice before the interior department.

The president has suspended from office Frank S. Blunt and Michael H. Fitch, register and receiver respectively of the land office at Pueblo, Colo.

Rosecrans Presented with a Pistol.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 9.—Gen. Rosecrans was presented Wednesday afternoon, by a half dozen Texas ex-Confederate soldiers, with a pistol which they captured in a raid on Rosecrans' baggage-train in the summer of 1864. On the lift of the pistol there is an inscription descriptive of the battles in which Gen. Rosecrans was victorious, among others Rich Mountain, Carnifax Ferry, Inka, Corinth, Murfreesboro, etc. The general was delighted and especially by the manner in which the restoration of the old firearm was most gracefully made by Judge Chenowith, representing the Texans.

Not Asiatic Cholera.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 9.—Surgeon General Hamilton of the revenue marine hospital service, said Wednesday afternoon: "Dispatches published in the morning papers announce that there are some sporadic cases of cholera among the Poles in the prison at Toledo. Investigation will show that it is not Asiatic cholera and there need be no alarm on this score. In all large gatherings of men in prison acute cholera morbus is a common occurrence in summer, but it is not Asiatic cholera."

Mr. Chenowith Differs with the Treasurer

WASHINGTON CITY, July 9.—First Auditor Chenowith adheres to his decision refusing to allow an account for the redemption of a United States note upon which the date was wrongly printed. Treasurer Jordan says such notes will continue to be redeemed, as other action would be gross repudiation. First Comptroller Durham will pass upon the matter.

A Mint Officer Exonerated.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 9.—The solicitor of the treasury, Hon. A. McCue, to whom was referred the evidence taken in the investigation of the charges preferred against Russell B. Harrison, assayer in charge of the United States mint, at Helena M. T., has made his report to the secretary of the treasury, in which he entirely exonerates Harrison.

NOTHING BUT A BIG SCARE.

Reported Indian Invasion of Kansas Turns Out a Canard.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 9.—The following dispatch, coming originally from Kingman station, was received, Wednesday morning, by the governor from H. R. Nickerson, division superintendent of the Topeka & Santa Fe railway:

The Indian scare has assumed gigantic proportions here. Yesterday and last night hundreds of families flocked into town from points as far west as forty miles for protection. Several scouting parties have been out thirty miles, and the farther out they go the farther off the Indians are. There is not a trace of an Indian or evidence of one having been nearer Kingman county than the territory line, and no damage has been done there. There is a general scare, but its origin is causeless. A party named Jones was down to the territory line, and heard that Indians were on the move. On his way back to Pratt county he met a neighbor named Smith, and told him that the Indians were coming. Smith saw Brown and Brown saw his friend, and thus the story grew and excitement increased. The settlers have all started back for their homes.

KINGMAN, Kan., July 9.—A reliable party, who was sent out Tuesday night, has just returned. He had ridden over the entire southern and western portion of Pratt and Kingman counties, and reports no Indians and nobody hurt. The farther he went, the farther away the Indians were reported to be. The usual number of Cheyenne and Arrapahoe Indians were hanging about Medicine Lodge and other smaller towns, trading. Some of these small bands have no doubt been seen crossing the prairies, which gave rise to the terrible scare of Wednesday.

Runners and Trotters at Work.

BRIGHTON BEACH, July 9.—There were six well contested races here Wednesday. The attendance was good. In the fourth race three horses fell. They were Ecuador, Young Duchess and Polimeurus. Two of the riders were severely injured. The first race was ½ mile; Hawthorne first, May W. second, Shortcake third; time, 1:20. Second race, ½ mile; Mocking Bird first, Tom Kerns second, Rushbrook third; time, 1:18. Third race, 1¼ miles; Kiohba first, Joe Mitchell second, Girofla third; time, 2:11¾. Fourth race, 1½ miles; Ten Strike first, Miss Brewster second, George Singerly third; time, 2:40¾. Fifth race, 1½ miles; Woodflower first, Harry Munn second, Excelsior third; time, 1:50¾. Sixth race, 1½ miles; Jennings and Mollie Walton ran a dead heat in 1:58¾; Nettie was close up.

CHICAGO, July 9.—About 8,000 people were in attendance at Washington park Wednesday. First race, 1 mile; Polly Yates first, Guidette second, Guida third; time, 1:41¾. Second race, ¾ mile; Mamie Hunt first, Estrella second, Flora L. third; time, 1:16. Third race (Washington park cup), 2¼ miles; Modesty first, Bob Miles second, Bonnette third; time, 4:03¾. Fourth race, mile heats: Ed Butts first, Hazaras second, The Ute third; time, 1:42¾, 1:44, 1:45. Fifth race, steeple chase, short course: Slocum first, Ascoli second, Nipbon third; Obermeyer fell at the stone wall; time, 3:00¾.

CINCINNATI, July 9.—The attendance at Chester park Wednesday afternoon was very large, the weather fine and the track in good condition. Hunter won the 2:30 race in 2:27, 2:31¾ and 2:28¾. The 2:26 class was taken by Grafton in 2:25¾, 2:29¾, and 2:33; but time by Desdemona, in second heat, 2:27¾. The five-mile run for lady riders was contested by Myrtle Peck and Mme. Marantello, and won by the former in 10:59.

Glass-Blowers Secret Session.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 9.—The Grand League of the druggists glass-blowers of the eastern division is in secret session in this city. About seventy-five delegates from all parts of the country are present under the presidency of Mr. T. S. Toulin. The annual report shows the number of members to be 1,071; apprentices coming out of time this year, 104; blowers not members 10; number of apprentices, 470; pots in operation last year, 370; or seven less than the year previous.

SEEING THE WORLD.

The date for a girl's entrance into society is not left to be decided by a whim, an accident, or not at all. She is not in society while she is a schoolgirl. She does not go to parties, or have beaux, or put on the dress and manners of a young lady till her girlhood days are past and she has quitted the school-room. When the time comes she is "brought out." A party is given at the opening of the season, and she is introduced into society. This would not be earlier than her 17th year and perhaps as late as her 19th.

English children see a good deal of the world. Boys are very much under their tutors and frequently spend their holidays under their charge, traveling on the continent, and with the object in view of acquiring the French and German languages. Well-born children are early taught to speak both these tongues. To perfect their pronunciation and increase their facility of speech they are taken to reside a time or to travel in France and Germany. It is very common to meet a half-dozen boys in the care of a tutor or a young curate, making excursions on foot through the Rhine country or in Switzerland.

DOMESTIC RELIGION.

There is a religious life in most English families. It is a matter taken for granted. Family worship is observed in the vast majority of families. Among the upper classes domestic religious observance is looked upon as part of the well ordering of the household. It is not a subject of which children fight shy in any way. The children are asked to say grace at table—boys and girls alike—except when guests are present. Children are taken to church at a very early age and grow up accustomed to church attendance. The institutions and ordinances of religion are held in profound respect. The clergy are honored and hold a distinct place in the regard and even affections of the family.

The family life is the safety and bulwark of England. The religion and reverence which are ever present and ever active in the family life of England are its strength and glory.

WASHINGTON'S TREES.

A MIGHTY FOREST GROWING WITHIN THE CAPITAL CITY.

A Splendid Scheme for Providing Shade Trees and Beautifying the Streets Successfully Carried Out—How the Work Is Done.

[Washington Cor. New York Times.]

Standing upon the dome of the capital at this season of the year one overlooks a vast labyrinth of leafing trees probably unequaled in extent, variety and symmetry in any other city in the world. In a few years our capital will become pre-eminently the forest city of the nation. Trees all around you, in platoons, in columns, in ranks, single, double, and quadruple, they shade and ornament with their luxuriant foliage not only the magnificent avenues where fashion takes its daily airing, but equally the squalid and unimproved streets, inhabited by the very poor. There are trees of many varieties—the stately plume-crowned elm; symmetrical, tender-leaved Carolina poplars; sprawling, much-bebuttoned sycamores, in liveries of white; rare and distinguished-looking ginkgos, lifting their spare trunks heavenward, like lofty church spires; soft, green, umbrageous maples—the people's favorite—and generous, broad-leaved lindens and catalpas.

There is no more striking sight in Washington than may be seen by standing in the center of one of the small parks, called circles, situated at the intersection of sometimes eight or ten streets and avenues, and then letting the eye range along the rows of growing trees of many species, of similar height and beautiful aspect, which radiate from you for miles in all directions, like spokes from the hub of a wheel. And one needs only to notice some hot August day the pedestrians dodging from tree to tree to escape the blistering sun, the horses picking their way where the trees shade the street, and little children continuing their play at noontide beneath their grateful shelter, to be convinced that they have an important bearing upon public health and comfort. These facts led your correspondent to hunt up one of the originators of this great improvement, Mr. William Saunders, superintendent of the propagating garden, department of agriculture, for information, and Mr. Saunders imparted these facts:

"There are about 60,000 trees in the streets of Washington. Our streets are provided with 125 miles of shade, exclusive of parks and public gardens. We intend that every graded street, whether inhabited or not, shall have at least two rows of vigorous growing shade trees, and many of the wider avenues contain four. Set out in single file, twenty-five feet apart, our trees would extend from here to New York city. Planted in a grove, allowing only twenty-four feet space between the trees, they would form a forest covering 800 acres. Our maples alone probably number 25,000—a pretty sugar orchard with which to sweeten the public temper. Probably no other city in the world has provided so munificently and systematically for its citizens in the matter of shade. This city is the pioneer and most successful example of the application of arboriculture to the improvement and ornamentation of public streets.

"When carrying out the extensive scheme of public improvements about the year 1870, great complaint was made because of the destruction of shade trees in the process of street grading. It was suggested to the authorities that the city's parking should be put into the hands of a skilled commission, who should plant quick-growing trees to supply the places of those removed, and thus quiet public discontent. The suggestion was acted upon, and a parking commission was appointed, who should act as an advisory board to plan for and superintend the setting out of suitable shade trees. These gentlemen were practical nurserymen. The annual expenditure for this department has been $18,000. The parking commission has not had the handling of the money, their duties being wholly advisory and superintending. During the first few years of our administration the principal outlay was for purchasing and setting out trees. As soon as practicable two nurseries were started and planted with the seeds of approved varieties of shade trees, and by this means of late years we have been able to secure our stock at minimum price and little loss.

"As the number of trees under our charge increased it was found that the boxing and proper care of those already planted absorbed the funds to such an extent that only 2,000 or 3,000 new trees could be planted annually. Our tree boxes cost us 45 cents apiece, and by their peculiar construction serve not only to protect the trees from outside violence, but also afford adequate support to the young trees against the high winds which often prevail in this section and to which, from their isolated position, they are peculiarly exposed. Under favorable conditions a tree box will last six or eight years. The employment of six or eight men with three horses is required, throughout the working season, to renew and repair the tree boxes alone.

"It is amazing how many enemies a properly planted tree has to contend with in its laudible efforts in behalf of public comfort. Every runaway horse is sure to fetch up against a tree box, to their mutual hurt and destruction. Drunken men find them a safer and far more convenient resting place than the proverbial lamp-post. Rain and wind storms in connection with excessive growth produce a large annual crop of accidents. Two thousand trees were prostrated in a single summer storm a few years ago. Besides no tree is exempt from its hereditary foes in the way of bugs, beetles, and worms. The police report daily all mishaps to trees and boxes, and we keep a team busy throughout the growing season repairing damages, such as removing broken limbs and worms' nests. It requires a large aggregate of labor to simply care for a forest of 60,000 trees, for such it really is. During the planting season, of course, a much larger force is temporarily employed."

THE "POT-BOILER."

THE ARTIST WHO TURNS OUT AN OIL PAINTING IN TEN MINUTES.

An "Unrivaled Collection" of Bad Marines, Hand-Me-Down Tropicals and Imitation Turners and Landseers —A "Pot-Boiler" at Work.

"A 'pot-boiler?' Certainly I know what a 'pot-boiler' is."

Thus said the stranger, regarding his interlocutor with almost a resentful air, as if an imputation of ignorance had been cast upon him. The two were standing in the doorway of a State street mock-auction room, regarding, with mingled feelings of curiosity and amusement, "an unrivaled collection of oil paintings," whereof the putative authors were among the most celebrated artists of Europe. The stranger had been moved by the spectacle to mention the above-named subject. He went on to say:

"All this stuff is the work of 'pot-boilers;'" and, with a discursive sweep of his right hand, he took in a heterogeneous group of bad marines, hand-me-down tropicals, and unforgivable copies of Bonheur and Landseer. There was one sacrilegious caricature of a Turner. "All that stuff, sir," the indignant critic repeated "was done under great stress by pot-boilers. And now I will tell you what that term means. A pot-boiler is not, as you idiotically suggest, one who boils pots. He is a species of mechanic (or artist, as he would prefer to be called) who manufactures paintings for this and similar markets by the yard, piece or dozen, according to contract. He is of two kinds, gregarious or solitary. The former work in groups at large factories in New York and Philadelphia. Here they string up a row of canvasses in a convenient light. Then the pot-boiler goes over the lot with a pot of blue, another with green, a third with red, and so on till the canvases are all covered with landscapes, etc., according as it happens. The result is the very lowest grade of work, which sells at wholesale at from 60 to 80 cents a copy. These here seem to be of rather a higher grade. They were done by the other kind—the solitary pot-boiler. He is a genius in his way. I think I can find you one of those fellows at work if you care to come."

The answer was a prompt expression of willingness, and the stranger led the way to a tall building on Randolph street, at the top of which was found a little, dingy room containing the paraphernalia of a paint-shop, and a parti-colored jacket inclosing a man. The latter was hard at work on a 12x20-inch canvas rapidly approaching completion. Around about were numerous completed works of art, some of them not yet dry. In the corner was a placard inscribed: "Paintings in oil while you wait," the uses of which were explained later on. The artist knew the stranger, and was willing to be seen and heard while he worked and talked.

"Yes," he began, "I am what they call a pot-boiler, and it don't make me feel bad to admit it. Time was, though, when I struck out for the name of artist and had yearnings—like all the other beginners. But only a few see their ambition realized, and I was one of the many. Thank God, I had sense enough to see it before I starved for the want of glory and bread, and turned my time exclusively to the latter. I am making money now, but (with an involuntary sigh) I suppose I will never be an artist."

During this monologue the speaker's hands were as busy as his tongue. With incredible rapidity he had planted a fine forest on the edge of a blue sheet of water, and caused the foreground to blossom as a rose of several hues. He used his left forearm for a mahl-stick and scorned the use of more than two brushes. The colors were mixed as they were needed, without the aid of a palette knife. A pine tree was achieved by a single downward stroke, and two more rapid motions draped it in the graceful hangings of a woodland vine. A primrose on the river's brim, a blotch of ocher was to him, and nothing more. The stranger remarked that he worked without the aid of copy or crayon sketch.

"O, certainly," was the careless rejoinder. "I don't need them. I carry my 'designs' in my head; two or three 'fores,' as many 'distances,' and skies, and 'miscellaneous,' and there's my outfit. The difference is in the combinations. Now, in this picture, say, I have No. 1 sky, No. 3 distance, No. 2 fore, and so on."

The artist had already begun work on another canvas.

"That placard I see you looking at is one I often use when I make my trips. Yes, I go to state fairs and expositions, take a booth, hang that sign out, and literally paint pictures while my customers wait for them. How long? Well, say ten minutes, on a small canvas. That sort of work brings $1 a copy, or $4 with a frame. Money in it! Well, rather! Five people out of ten think they've got a bargain at the price. I've made $75 a day, with a clean profit of $60. Two of my friends did even better at the New Orleans exposition last winter, and there wasn't any crowd to speak of, either. Where does most of my work go to? That's one of the secrets of the biz? May be you know (to the stranger)."

The stranger indicated by his conduct as he led his companion out that he did.

NOT SO VERY CHEAP.

IMPORTED LABORERS AT CLEVELAND PLAGUE THE IMPORTERS.

The Poles and Bohemians Condemned by the Other Workmen—The Red Flag Flaunted—Authorities on the Alert—Quiet at Chicago.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 9.—The iron strike is still on. Following the red flag of the commune does not, however, suit the taste of the Irish, German, English and American strikers, and they Wednesday cut loose from the bloodthirsty Poles and Bohemians who have been the cause of most of the trouble here. These Poles and Bohemians came here two years ago and took the places of the men who were on strike, going to work for almost starvation wages. Now they have struck, and are turning the strike into a communistic demonstration. The English, Irish, German, and American workmen have decided to no longer participate in processions or other demonstrations. This may prove a solution of the difficulty. While those men will not return to work at a reduction, they are equally determined that the Poles and Bohemians shall not go back under any circumstances. From this time on it will be a game of freeze-out. While everybody condemns the riotous conduct of the foreigners, the other strikers have the sympathy of the residents of the Eighteenth ward, where they are known. After the outbreak of Tuesday there was a lull, and nothing more of note occurred during the day. Tuesday evening the mayor and police commissioners held a long secret meeting to consider the situation. As a result the mayor issued a proclamation warning the strikers against making further attacks on persons and property. It was decided to mass the entire night force and one-half of the day force at the Second precinct station Wednesday morning to protect the Union steel-screw works in an attempt to resume work. A detail of twelve men each from three companies of the Fifth regiment were sworn in as specials, and assigned to remain at the armory in readiness for summons. The commanders of the different Ohio National Guard organizations were communicated with in reference to being prepared to turn out if called upon. The mayor was empowered to swear in any number of special policemen. This had the effect of preventing any outbreak Wednesday morning.

During the day, however, the Poles and Bohemians, armed with clubs and stones, marched about the Fourteenth ward flaunting the red flag to the breeze, and muttered ominous threats against every institution in which the Chisholms are interested. In the afternoon the men who did not sympathize with the communistic idea attempted to hold a meeting, but the Poles and Bohemians took possession of the ground, and put their anarchist orators to work. There is grave apprehension in the minds of the authorities. The entire police force will be held in readiness for action. The members of the Fifth regiment and Gatling gun battery have also been notified to report for duty. The cause of the alarm is the announcement on the part of the Bohemians and Poles that they will in the morning visit the mayor and ask him to intercede for them. If he does not succeed they threaten to again attack the Union Screw works and gut the establishment. It is the general opinion that blood will be spilled before the end is reached.

End of the Chicago Troubles.

CHICAGO, July 9.—The west side cars started up over all the lines with their old-time regularity a little before 5 o'clock Wednesday morning. The striking conductors and drivers, almost without exceptions, were on hand to resume their old positions. They were joking and chatting among themselves with great hilarity. All seemed to think that President Jones had acted fairly and squarely in the promises.

The continuation of the strike was for precisely eight days, the longest known in the annals of the West Division company. The loss to the company during that time is estimated at $40,000, while the outside branches of trade were affected infinitely more. The loss caused by inconvenience to the public, especially that large proportion of it residing on the west side, can not be approximated.

President J. Russell Jones announces that he will personally hear the cases of the sixteen discharged employes, on whose account the strike was inaugurated, at an early day. Their cases, he says, shall be fairly examined, and the ground shall be taken that the company can not afford to discharge its men unfairly. The new men employed during the progress of the strike will be retained only to fill vacancies where old employes fail to come back again. The police are rejoicing over the fact that their services are no longer in demand to protect the cars. Many of them had to perform duty an increased number of hours, and in many instances go without their regular meals.

GOT THE LIZARDS TO PROVE IT.

Strange and Unruly Tenants of a Negro's Stomach.

ORANGEBURG, S. C., July 9.—Samuel Crowell, an aged darkey on the farm of John P. Cuttino, twenty miles from this place, while chopping wood Tuesday morning was taken violently ill. Doctor Sally, of this place, was called and found the old man in convulsions. He kept grasping at his sides as if something were gnawing at his vitals. The physician observing this administered an emetic. Soon after taking the medicine the old man began vomiting and within ten minutes had ejected from his stomach six full-grown lizards. The old darkey soon began to improve and in a couple of hours was able to get out of bed. Investigation proves that four years ago, while drinking from a spring, the negro swallowed what at that time he said was a lizard, but as it gave him no trouble he soon forgot about it. The one he swallowed was doubtless a female and the others were born in his stomach. Dr. Sally has preserved the lizards in alcohol and they are the talk of the whole county.

The Ability to Bear Pain.

Is the test of fortitude among the Indian tribes. But we defy any Cherokee, Sioux or Comanche to endure the twinges rheumatism without wincing. These, indeed, are slight at first, but grow in intensity until they become unbearable. No malady is more obstinate in its maturity than that which gives rise to them. The more need, then of attacking it at the outset. Foremost among remedies for it is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, safer and infinitely more effective than colchicum, veratrum and nux vomica, all remedies which might prove destructive of life in a slightly excessive dose. Mineral depurents, also, when not positively mischevous, are far inferior in remedial power to this salutary botanic medicine. It entirely expels from the blood the acrid impurities which originate the disease, and enrich as well as cleanse it. Constipation, liver complaint, dyspepsia and other ailments also give way to it.

Prentice & Evenson guarantee positive relief for any cough, cold, croup or lung complaint by using Acker's English Remedy, or will refund the money.

MEXICAN EDITORS VISIT GRANT.

An Interchange of Good Feeling at Mt. McGregor.

MT. MCGREGOR, N. Y., July 9.—Wednesday afternoon was a remarkably active one for Gen. Grant. He sat out of doors quite a while. The train in the middle of the afternoon brought a large number of people, some of whom passed the house and saluted the general. Rev. Edmund Didier, of St. Vincent's Roman Catholic church, Baltimore, went direct to the cottage, and having obtained permission to speak to the general, he conveyed to him expressions of interest and sympathy. The general seemed touched and replied in writing: "I regret very much that I can not converse even in a whisper."

"We are praying for you, general," said Father Didier.

"Yes," the general wrote, "I know, and I feel very grateful to the Christian people of the land for their prayers in my behalf. There is no sect or religion as shown in the Old or New Testament to which this does apply. Catholics, Protestants and Jews, and all the good people of the nation of all politics as well as religions, and all nationalities seem to have united in wishing or praying for my improvement. I am a great sufferer all the time, but the facts you have related are compensation for much of it. All that I can do is to pray that the prayers of all these good people may be answered so far as to have us all meet in another and a better world. I cannot speak, even in a whisper."

When the general had written this he signed and dated it at the request of the priest.

This meeting was hardly over when a special train brought the excursion of Mexican editors. Their arrival was announced to the general who deputated Col. Grant to invite them to the cottage. They were presented by E. H. Talbott of The Railway Age, the general standing to receive them. Mr. De Anda, secretary of the excursion, then stepped forward and made an address. The address, which Editor Clarke, of The Two Republics, interpreted, was as follows:

In the name of the committee of Mexican journalists who are visiting this great country, I desire to say that they could not pass so near to a great friend of Mexico without coming to pay their respects to the great hero of Richmond, he who broke the chains of slavery in order that the iron of the chains around the slave might be made into rails for the progress of the country, and thus unite the two republics by bonds of steel; he who has done so much to make the two republics one union, living together in harmony.

While the general was writing a response the party stood on the porch, Mrs. Grant receiving the ladies of the visitors. The general's reply was as follows:

My great interest in Mexico is dated back to the time of the war between the United States and that country. My interest was increased when four European monarchies attempted to set up their institutions on this continent, selecting Mexico, a territory adjoining the United States. It was an outrage on human rights for a foreign nation to attempt to transfer her institutions and her rule to the territory of civilized people without their consent. They were fearfully punished for their crime. I hope Mexico may soon begin an upward and a prosperous departure. She has the elements of success. She has the people; she has the soil; she has the climate; she has the minerals. The conquest of Mexico will not be an easy task in the future.

Then Dr. Mendezabal stepped forward and conveyed to the general the sympathy and respects of Jose Marea Mata, ex-minister from Mexico. The general made a brief and suitable acknowledgment.

The party then withdrew and Dr. Douglas took the general to his room. He bore up well during the meeting, but when the excitement of it was over he showed great fatigue. Dr. Douglas applied treatment to the general when he retired, which did not fail to produce early sleep, which was not interrupted up to midnight.

NOW IS THE TIME TO CURE SKIN HUMORS.

It is at this season when the Pores are clogged and the Blood and Perspiration are laden with Impurities and disfiguring Humors, Humiliating Eruptions, Itching Tortures, Salt Rheum or Eczema, Psoriasis, Tetter, Ringworm, Baby Humors, Scrofula, Scrofulous Sores, Abscesses, and discharging wounds, and every species of Itching, Scaly and Pimply Diseases of the Skin and Scalp, are most speedily and economically cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

IT IS A FACT.

Hundreds of letters in our possession (copies of which may be had by return mail) are our authority for the assertion that Skin, Scalp and Blood Humors, whether Scrofulous, Inherited or Contagious, may NOW be permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT the new Blood Purifier, internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, externally, in one half the time and expense of any other season.

GREATEST ON EARTH.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are the greatest medicines on earth. Had the worst case Salt Rheum in this country. My mother had it twenty years, and in fact died from it. I believe CUTICURA would have saved her life. My arms, breast and head were covered for three years, which nothing relieved or cured until I used the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, externally.

J. W. ADAMS,
Newark, Ohio.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have paid hundreds of dollars for medicines to cure diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

—The livery stable hacks did a good business last evening at the close of the concert taking people home. —Commencing Saturday evening, July 11th, the Bower City band will give a series of dime promenade concerts at the Riverside rink. The full band will take part, and very choice programmes arranged. Refreshments will be served during the concerts by Shurtleff. We can see no reason why these concerts should not be very popular.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Cummings, and their cousin, Miss H. R. Chapin, of Emerald Grove, started to-day for Miller, Hand county, Dakota, where they will spend the summer. Mr. Cummings has large real estate interests in Dakota, having at this time three hundred acres under cultivation in Hand county, and he now goes west to superintend the harvest.

—Miss Maggie Finch, for the past year third assistant teacher in the high school of this city, has accepted a position as teacher in the public schools of Whitewater, her home, thus leaving a vacancy in the corps of teachers to be filled in this city. It is rumored that the board of education were intending to appoint a male first assistant in the high school, dropping the lady assistants "down a peg" and by so doing leave Miss Finch "out in the wet." Miss Finch has therefore relieved the board of any trouble on her account by securing a good position in advance of any action of our school authorities.

—Twenty-five new pieces oriental lace just opened at New York Saving store. The rush for these goods last week cleaned out our entire stock early in the week, so that we were compelled to disappoint a number of our customers who wished to take advantage of our sale prices. This being the case, we shall offer the new goods just received, at the same low prices which prevailed during the sale. Handsome patterns Oriental lace at 15 18 and 20c—usually sold at 25 to 30c per yard. Extra wide flouncing at 38 to 50c, worth one-third more. Also several pieces allover embroidery at very low prices.

—Mr. A. H. Fairbank, who has been confined to his home the past six or seven years with sciatic rheumatism, was in the city a few days ago and expressed the opinion in our hearing that he was getting better. "Why," said he to an acquaintance, "I have paid hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills and cannot say that I obtained relief till Dr. S. Clay Todd took hold of my case. The time is short since he commenced doctoring me; yet this withered leg of mine which for so long a time has been useless, is regaining strength. It is fully one inch longer and measures more around than before I commenced taking the doctor's treatment." Mr. Fairbank was quite earnest in his declarations.—Janesville Daily Recorder, July 8th, 1885.

—We learn to-day that arrangements have been completed by the management of the Riverside rink and the Bower City band, to give a series of Saturday evening promenade concerts. These entertainments will be choice, and the programmes will include the best selections of the band. Ice cream and refreshments will be served in the building, and all will be done that can be to add to the pleasure and comfort of the patrons. The price of admission has been placed at the low price of ten cents, and we have no doubt that the concerts will prove very popular and attractive, and that they will be liberally patronized by the best people in the city. The opening night will occur next Saturday evening.

—Mr. A. H. Finley, of the Sea Side restaurant, was run away with this morning, and badly shaken up. He was just starting from his home on Court street about eight o'clock this morning, when his horse became frightened at the rattling of a cream can in the back of the wagon, and started on a run. He swerved into the court house park, jerking the reins from Mr. Finley's hands, and throwing him onto the whiffle tree. After holding on as long as possible in that dangerous position, he was thrown to the ground and cut very badly about the head. The horse kept on, turning out of the park on to Court street. When opposite Nelson's livery stable, however, he was stopped and led back. He was cut somewhat about the knees, and the wagon was badly smashed, so that besides Mr. Finley's own injuries, the financial loss will be considerable.

OBITUARY.

COLONEL EZRA MILLER.

Captain W. T. Vankirk received a dispatch this forenoon, announcing the death of Colonel Ezra Miller, which occurred at his home at Mahwah, New Jersey, this morning.

Colonel Miller was one of the early settlers of Rock county, and was a prominent politician in the democratic camp. For several years he followed the occupation of a farmer, and resided in Spring Valley. In 1853 he was elected state senator from this county, and represented it in the legislatures of 1853 and 1854, having for his colleagues, Hon. J. R. Briggs, of Beloit, in 1853, and Hon. James Sutherland, of this city, in 1854. In 1858, if we are not mistaken, he removed from his farm to this city, and soon after was appointed postmaster by President Buchanan, succeeding D. C. Brown. Colonel Miller continued in the post office until 1861, when he was succeeded by J. M. Burgess.

Leaving politics at this time the colonel turned his mind to the invention of a car coupler, which he soon perfected and secured letters patent, and which was adopted on all the leading railroads of the United States and Canada, from which he reaped a fortune. He purchased a fine tract of land at Mahwah, New Jersey, and built himself a fine house. Enclosing a park in which he kept numerous specimens of western game. Colonel Miller was a man who made and retained many friends, hundreds of whom reside in this vicinity, who will feel sad at hearing of his death, and the loss of so true a friend.

CELESTINE LILLY.

Mr. Celestine Lilly, the oldest engineer on this part of the Chicago and Northwestern road, died this morning about four o'clock. He was suffering from an abcess in his lung, during most of the winter and his death had been expected for some time. Deceased was born in Pennsylvania in 1826 being therefore fifty nine years of age. The only one of his family who survives him is his son, a boy of sixteen. He was an engineer for thirty-five years, twenty-five of which were spent on the Northwestern road, and had the best wishes of all who were brought into contact with him. His body will be placed in the Catholic cemetery, the funeral taking place on Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock from St. Mary's church.

No. 41.

Don't all come at once, because North Main street is a busy thoroughfare, and you might get crushed in the rush, but as you pass down this busy street, cast your eye around and note the improvements which are everywhere visible, and which are largely due to red paint. "The Gazette" stands out prominently in large gay letters on the front windows at the old stand. Both doors are open for business, from Monday morning till Saturday night. The fourth of July trade was not very satisfactory, although we sold one chattle mortgage blank, and a postage stamp, yet we are patriotic. The Gazette enters upon its forty-first year with a contented mind and a thorough appreciation of the kindly feeling that finds expression in unstinted measure on every hand. We shall continue to labor zealously for the good of humanity in general and the few nickles that glide our way in particular. Commencing with September first, sample copies of our weekly paper will be mailed to every farmer in Rock county, and while the Gazette is now considered a first class advertising medium, this new feature will make it particularly desirable for Janesville business men. Annual contracts for advertising made previous to August 1st, will share the benefits of the sample edition without extra charge.

A Narrow Escape.

Persons having any distance to walk after ten o'clock last night, traveled at the risk of their bones. The only wonder is that more people did not meet with accidents, the night being so dark and so many sidewalks obstructed by trees. Foot passengers, however, had no trouble in keeping in the track, but people in carriages were sometimes without this advantage, as Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Baines learned, rather to their discomfort. They had attended the concert at the rink and at the close of the entertainment, started for their home near the Institute for the Blind. The road beyond the institute, was lighted by electricity, but the illumination was hardly a success; for while the road would be as light as day for an instant, for the next few minutes nothing could be seen. It was during one of these total eclipses that Mr. Baines' horse wandered from the road and landed the party, carriage and all, in a heap at the bottom of a six foot ravine. By some miracle, neither Mr. Baines nor his wife were badly hurt, but were held so that it was impossible for them to move, the wreck of the buggy falling directly upon them. Mr William Bladon who was a short distance ahead saw that the horse and buggy had disappeared and looking back found them at the bottom of the gully. He sent for help and in a few minutes Mr. and Mrs. Baines were taken from under the wreck very little the worse for their accident. The buggy, however had rather the worst of it, and is almost a total wreck, while the horse escaped without a scratch.

THE STORM.

A Destructive Gale Sweeps Over a Great Portion of the Northwest.

Resulting in the Killing of Stock and Destruction of Buildings.

The wind storm which struck this city about half-past nine o'clock last night extended with much greater force throughout the northwest, and meagre reports come to hand of terrible destruction of property. Here in the city, but very little damage resulted, few diseased trees were blown down—nothing more as far as reported. On Rock Prairie we hear of several large tobacco sheds being blown down, and the general wreckage of wind mills.

At Madison considerable damage is reported. A portion of the roof of the state capitol was torn off by the hurricane, and the building was deluged with water. The windows on the west side of the building were blown in. Many buildings were unroofed, and several buildings completely wrecked, but as far as can be learned, no lives were lost. The telegraph and telephone lines were all torn down, cutting off communication.

Rumors have been current here that Oshkosh, Sparta and Eau Claire were all torn to pieces by the gale, but no word has as yet been received from those places.

Meager telegraph reports received in this city from different parts of the state, report great destruction of property, and the killing of considerable stock, but all these reports fail to give particulars.

CAPT. M. A. NEWMAN.

Now we have got it—a Badger range which will be sold at a bargain. Also a large stock of other goods which will be sold to suit the times, at the second hand store of Sanborn & Canniff.

The English Sparrows.

Harper's Young People, for July, publishes the following interesting article relating to the "English sparrow," which will interest many in this city where the little birds are so numerous: "The unfortunate English sparrow is fast losing its last friends, for even in its native home the farmers are turning upon it, and it is now dubbed a pest, while all sorts of murderous plans are devised for its destruction.

Some twenty years ago the chipper and "cheeky" little bird was imported into New York, and received with marks of the greatest friendliness and distinction. Boxes were placed in the forked boughs of trees for the little strangers to build their nests in, and to kill a sparrow was looked upon almost as a crime.

The reason of this extraordinary friendliness on the part of the public was that the little bird was known to have a remarkable appetite for worms, and at that time the city of New York was afflicted with a plague of "measuring worms." The trees in the parks and streets were stripped of their leaves, and the worms having satisfied their appetites, were in the habit of dropping on to the hats and parasols of the passers-by.

Accordingly English sparrows were imported in large numbers, and it happened that soon after their arrival the measuring worms disappeared. Then the sparrows were credited with all the virtues that feathered beings could possibly possess, and their lot remained a happy one. But so fickle is public favor that now they have many enemies. They are said to have emigrated in large numbers to the country, where they prey upon grain fields and orchards and gardens of small fruits; they have driven away the native small birds which were here before Columbus; and (unkindest cut of all) it is declared that they did not destroy the measuring worms after all, but that the latter simply went away, probably because there were no green leaves left to eat.

In England, too, their friends have deserted them. Farmers' clubs are offering to pay threepence a dozen for their heads or their eggs, and their little stomachs are examined to show that they live almost wholly on wheat and barley. It seems only too certain that, like many unfeathered bipeds, the English sparrow has been getting a very fine reputation on false pretenses."

Beloit's Trouble With Tramps.

The good people of Beloit are now trying to rid the city of the "tramp" nuisance; a committee of the Beloit city council has had the subject under consideration, and made a report to the common council Tuesday evening, which was adopted. As the question is one which the people of Janesville, as well as the tax payers of Rock county are deeply interested, we re-publish the report, which is as follows:

"Your committee appointed to investigate the methods by which our tramps and criminals are dealt with by the city official, report that they find the following facts relating to the subject:

That the poor relief expenditures in the city of Beloit, during the year 1884, amounted to more than 2½ times as much as that for the city of Janesville during the same period, and more than all the rest of the county put together, Janesville included.

That as a protection to the rest of the county, the board of supervisors appointed a purchasing agent to purchase all the supplies of the county, which office while not legally warranted was thought justifiable as a means of meeting the emergency brought upon the county by the unparalleled pauperism of Beloit.

That in further defense of the taxpayers of the county outside of Beloit, the supervisors have introduced a resolution to be finally acted upon at their next meeting in November, by which each town shall be made liable for its own pauper expenses.

That on account of Beloit's excessive expenditure for poor relief, the city is likely to be discriminated against in the equalization of taxes, by the county board, and that for the same cause our city has been injudiciously advertised throughout the state as a tramp and pauper town through the published reports of the State board of charities, corrections and reform.

Your committee have further discovered that the report of our police justice to the county shows that from January 1st to April 21st inclusive, of this current year there were 111 commitments to the county jail, 103 of which were for alleged drunkenness

That the names of the parties thus committed show that they must have been tramps in the majority of instances.

That the police justice defends his practice in committing these vagrants as drunkards, on the ground of a want of jurisdiction to commit them as tramps.

That the court commissioner, Mr. S. J. Todd, to whom belongs the special prerogative of trying tramps and vagrants, refuses to act in the matter, owing to his opinion that the state law appointing court commissioners to try such cases cannot set aside the authority of our city charter which gives this jurisdiction to the police justice.

That as a result of this failure of our courts to understand and apply the laws, our town is infested by tramps who burglarize our citizens, increase our statistics of drunkenness and disorderly conduct and prejudice our reputation in the county and state.

In view of these facts your committee is of the opinion that this council should take prompt and radical action in remedying these public grievances.

It would particularly recommend:

1st. That the city marshal should be asked to abdicate his position as superintendent of the poor at once.

2d. That the council petition the circuit judge to appoint and authorize a court commissioner who shall be competent to try and commit tramps and vagrants under the vagrant law, said court commissioner to be other than the police justice.

3d. That our constables and marshal be instructed to arrest all vagrants as such, and that arrests of such criminals under city or state laws other than those relating to vagrancy, will be considered a dereliction of their duty by this body.

4th. That the county board be asked to require their superintendent of the poor in Beloit, to carry out to the fullest extent the restrictions in the giving of aid recommended by the state board of corrections and reforms.

That this council petition the legislature to so amend our charter as shall, make the compensation of the marshal a fixed salary, to the exclusion of all fees and other perquisites.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. KEY,
J. C. MCEVOY,

THE CONCERT.

Grandest Musical Event of the Season.

An Audience of Twelve Hundred People in Attendance.

The threatening storm of last evening did not prevent a full attendance at the Riverside rink, and the concert given by the Janesville Choral Union, was in all respects a grand success.

The audience was composed of about twelve hundred, and was select and appreciative. Beloit, Rockford and neighboring towns were well represented, and it is safe to say that the Riverside rink contained the largest audience last evening that has ever been called together at this popular resort.

The terraced platform was occupied by a chorus of about one hundred and fifty voices, and the summer toilets, relieved by a back ground of bunting and floral decorations, presented a very pleasing tableau. The room was amply provided with seating accommodations, and so well arranged by the management that while no reserve seats were sold, yet no one had reason to complain of poor location. The Riverside Rink is well adapted to large gatherings.

"Mendelssohns Hymn of Praise," was the opening number and was well rendered. The solo and duet work by Mrs. J. W. St. John, Mrs. A. O. Wilson, Miss Christine Peterson and Mr. Chas. A. Knorr, was particularly fine, while the choruses were well sustained and gave evidence of careful training by the conductor Mr. L. A. Torrens.

Part second included a variety of choice concert selections and was introduced by the full chorus in "When Daylights going," which was enthusiastically received. Mrs. A. O. Wilson followed with Arditte's "Waltz song" which so charmed the audience that she was again called to the front.

The violin solo by Mr. Adolph Rosenbocker also merited an encore to which he responded with a choice selection.

The song "Dreaming" by Miss Hattie Dearborn, won for her loud applause.

The piano solo by Mrs. Lizzie Binthff displayed marked ability, and was thoroughly appreciated.

The Wedding March, by the full chorus, so pleased the audience that the company were obliged to respond to an encore.

Mr. George Gookins sang "Palm Trees" in a rich baritone voice, that denoted culture and marked ability.

Miss Christine Peterson delighted the audience with Sullivan's Serenade, in which she was accompanied with violin and piano.

Mr. Charles Knorr responded to an encore, after singing "Only Once More" in a manner that called for prolonged applause.

The programme closed with the selection "Men of Harlech," with full chorus.

The orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. A. Rosenbecker, was a great assistance, and fully appreciated by the audience.

Professor Torrens and the management are to be congratulated on the success of the best musical entertainment that the city has enjoyed for a long time, and the people will not be slow in appreciating the possibilities of our musical home talent.

Mrs. Binthff presided at the piano last evening as she has during the rehearsals and proved a very valuable aid to the Union.

The intense heat and violent storm which broke over the city about the time the concert closed, was the only unpleasant feature of the evening.

The piano used at the concert was one of the popular Henry L. Miller grand, and was sent here by the company expressly for last evening. The instrument is a fine one and the manufacturers merit the success which they have won.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 70 degrees above zero. Cloudy with south west wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 85 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with west wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 65 and 73 degrees above zero.
